

SHHHHH - IT'S A SECRET!

We're Having a House Concert featuring Andrew McKnight

Award-winning singer/songwriter, guitarist & storyteller from northern Virginia's Blue Ridge

What's a house concert? Just like it sounds: imagine a mini-Carnegie Hall, up close and intimate in the comfort of someone's living room. You're invited to be a part of a very special evening, but you must RSVP to make reservations and get directions.

About the Artist

"With a voice reminiscent of Don McLean, McKnight traverses from old-time Appalachian tunes to contemporary folk and blues, all backed up by his dead-on guitar playing" - The Boston Globe

"The skillful songwriter's interest in history is revealed in songs such as the Civil War ballad 'The Road to Appomattox' ... He also works in true folkie tradition, updating lyrics to classic material such as 'Worried Man Blues' or reworking Robert Johnson's 'Crossroads'." - The Washington Post

The nationally acclaimed Americana artist's solo performances are like one man theatre; the songs are woven together with humorous stories and poetic drama, and the musical soundscape traverses influences from Appalachia, tasteful slide and jazzy blues, feisty anthems, rustic folk, and even a little fancy flatpicking on a Carter Family tune.
